

Terra

SUSTAINABILITY

Where to Buy Organic Food and Products in Hong Kong

BY: RUBIN VEREBES • OCTOBER 20, 2022

Tags:

Organic Food

Health

Vegan

Whether it's because of the threat of climate change, revival of Chinese dietary philosophies, or Hong Kongers simply wanting to become more health-conscious with what they cook and consume, organic food and produce have seen a steady growth in recent years, and so have stores and grocery chains that import and sell healthy, organic, and bio-friendly products.

From fairtrade pantry food and fridge essentials to organic health supplements and pills, we found the best stores to buy organic food and products in Hong Kong.

Earlier
Implementation of Partial Single-Use

Green Common marks itself as the world's first plant-based grocery store chain, marketing and selling revolutionary organic food products using next-generation foodtech innovations. With products such as Beyond Burder, Just Egg, and Chick'n Nuggets sold at Green Common stores, the organic retail chain champions Hong Kong's Food 2.0 journey. Expect to find a wealth of Omnifoods products stored at Green Common, an arm of parent company, Green Monday, as well as plant-based organic meat and milk products and dairy and egg substitutes.

*Location: Green Common, locations across Hong Kong

SpiceBox Organics

A one-stop-shop for organic and freshly made healthy food, environmentally friendly household products, and natural body care products, SpiceBox is Hong Kong's leading socially conscious organic company that promises all products are made, imported, and sold sustainably. The Hong Kong Island-based company offers free deliveries on orders over HK$600 for mixed packs with your favourite spices and herbs packed in a customised Spice Box.

*Location: SpiceBox Organics, locations across Hong Kong